

TRACI SKENE

VH-1's Stand Up Spotlight
A&E's Comedy on the Road
VH-1's Fools for Love
FOX's Comic Strip Live

Appeared with Rosie O'Donnell, Full House's Dave Coulier, Blue Collar Comedy's Ron White, and Jon Stewart of The Daily Show.

In 1988, TRACI SKENE was named "Funniest Woman in Philadelphia," which led to her first national television appearance on "The Will Shriner Show." Since then, she has continually toured across the US and Canada, performing in all 50 US states.

Her writing is regularly featured in the D.C. Examiner, and she is frequently featured as a "Top Cop" in US Weekly's popular Fashion Police report.

With her husband, fellow comedian BRIAN McKIM, she publishes and edits SHECKYmagazine.com, the finest magazine about standup comedy, on or off the World Wide Web.

She has been featured in the Boston Comedy Festival, the NY Underground Comedy Festival, and the Calgary FunnyFest and continues to perform 200+ dates a year in clubs, colleges, casinos, and corporate functions across the U.S. and Canada.